

Conference Awards on 2nd International conference on Breast Pathology and Cancer

Prof. Liane Deligdisch

E-mail: liane.deligdisch@mountsinai.org

Outstanding Researcher: This award is the highest level of our award known as the "Honorary Award". Who has had a major impact on Oncology & Cancer Science and has more than 15-20 yrs. of experience in this field and published more than 200-300 research papers in reputed international journals and made important contributions to the discovery or development of new thesis in the field of oncology. Who have many types of research, teaching experiences and an important impact on the analytical and theoretical development in the field of Oncology. Nominees can be employed in any company, university, government or a private research organization and must have documented success in the discovery of Cancer research or a research contribution in oncology.

Best Discovery: This award is known for "The Research Contribution Award". This award will be given among the participants who have more than 10-15 years of experience in the field of Oncology and published more than 100 research papers in the reputed international journals and whose research has a directly/indirectly significant effect on Cancer research. You can nominate the award through online.

Best Speaker: This award, given to the best speaker among the all speakers who are attending the conference to present their research thesis, projects that have been executed to improve long-term excellence in the field of Oncology. The winner of the Best Speaker Award receives a certificate and their names are announced to all conference attendees after the conclusion of the conference.

Young Scientists Award: This award is established to empower outstanding young researchers toward the start of their careers. The awards are given for the most extraordinary Ph.D. theses in the general area of the Oncology & Cancer science. This award is known for the "Best Young Research Award". Who has had a major impact on oncology and has more than 5-10 yrs. of experience in this field and published more than 50+ research papers in reputed international journals.

Best YRF: The award, given to recognize seminal contributions by young scientists to oncologists. Candidates must be current graduate students or postdoctoral researchers at an academic institution, private or government research foundation and must have a key role and a contribution to a research project of Oncology 2020. Nominees are expected to have exemplified creativity in oncology or cancer research to problem-solving skills.

Best Poster: This award, given to the poster presentation participants who will be given best poster presentation in front of all participants in the conference. All accepted abstracts will be presented at the poster sessions during the conference in-front of all participants.